Conversion FAQs & Checklist

What is conversion?

Conversion is a process that allows you to transfer your existing group coverage to an individual life policy without the need to provide evidence of good health. The converting company may ask you to answer health questions because doing so may help you get a better rate. However, you are not required to answer health questions.

How much coverage do I have now?

Please refer to your most recent Leave & Earnings Statement (LES) or VGLI bill for details about your coverage.

How many days do I have to convert my coverage?

- If you have SGLI coverage, you have 120 days from your date of separation to convert your coverage.
- If you have FSGLI coverage, you have 120 days from the following events to convert your coverage: the date the service member separates from service, the date of divorce from the service member, the date of the service member's death, or the date the service member terminates his/her SGLI coverage or his/her spouse's FSGLI coverage.
- If you have VGLI coverage, you may convert your coverage at any time.

Can I convert my child's FSGLI coverage?

No, children's coverage is not eligible for conversion. Only spouses can convert FSGLI coverage.

How do I start the conversion process?

Whether you live in the United States or overseas, you should start by contacting one of the participating companies listed on the back of this brochure, or your local agent, and confirm that they offer individual life insurance conversion policies in your state or location. You will need to send the documents noted in the following chart, depending on your current coverage.
